

CELESTIAL
BASH | 2024

Do you remember the last time you felt so connected to other people that your differences felt small and insignificant? When the beauty of an image or an idea made your spine tingle and your imagination run wild?

The Adler Planetarium creates moments like these every day. At the Adler, you can touch a real piece of the Moon with your hand or look through a telescope and see light that traveled millions of years to reach your eye.

What makes your jaw drop? Find out this fall at Celestial Bash.

September 7, 2024

6:30 pm—11:00 pm

Cocktail Attire

We're bringing together members of the Adler community for a night of imagination, celebration, and philanthropy. We'll also honor legendary Chicago meteorologist, Tom Skilling, for his longtime support of the Adler and his legacy as he retires after 45 years at WGN.

As a museum, an educational center, a hub for frontline research, and much more, the Adler serves half a million people each year through in-person programming, and millions more through our digital initiatives. We help people explore the universe both here in Chicago and around the world.

Our programs and experiences help you see the universe with your own eyes, touch it with your own hands, and understand that you're not separate from it. The story of Saturn and the Sun and all of space and time is also the story of you.
